

JAYNE BART-PLANGE HONORED AMONG LAW BULLETIN MEDIA'S TOP WOMEN IN LAW

November 20, 2025 | News

Burke, Warren, MacKay & Serritella is proud to announce that Jayne Bart-Plange has been honored in Law Bulletin Media's 2025 Top Women in the Law Awards. Jayne, who is a member of the Firm's Litigation practice group, has served as a longtime advocate and mentor for women within the legal industry.

"We're very proud of Jayne's recognition as a thoughtful leader and a generous mentor," said Jeff Warren. "Jayne is an exceptional colleague—she exemplifies the best qualities of our profession through her integrity, dedication, and a steadfast commitment to justice."

As a leading civil litigation and trial attorney, Jayne has tried high-value complex cases, and has successfully argued dispositive motions in both State and Federal courts. Jayne represents clients in Illinois and throughout the Midwest with a primary focus in the logistics and transportation industry. Nominees celebrate Jayne for her unique blend of experience in providing practical business counsel coupled with her fierce litigation skills, and they highlight her strategic and methodical approach to reaching favorable resolutions in the best interests of her clients.

Now in its sixth year, Law Bulletin Media's Top Women in the Law Awards honors Chicago attorneys for working to promote and advance women in the profession, achieving success in their areas of practice, and bringing leadership to their firms and the legal industry at large. The Chicago Daily Law Bulletin and Chicago Lawyer selection committee chose Jayne from a collection of hundreds of nominations for lawyers throughout the Chicagoland area.
